

Theory

Kundalini awakened individuals claim to be able to converse with the ascended masters. I have had this experience with entities claiming to be thus so as mad as it seems I can concur with them.

Can two Kundalini awakened people communicate with each other non verbally and over great distance however? I have been compelled to find out and document this.

Method

Kundalini Shakti rising through the Chakras produces vibrations that have a particular frequency. I've noticed that frequency changes when communicating with these different entities in the medium of vibrations up the Sushumna nadi, and I feel it must be possible for two awakened individuals to do.

This was brought back into my focus very recently with the new episode of the Mandalorian showing it, and with Thornton mentioning it during his ESF symposium talk.

“This gave me the idea that Ahsoka, who is very compassionate, would be able to connect with the Child, and that without words they could probably communicate through memories and experiences.” - Dave Filoni

The basic idea is to try and send and receive feelings and thoughts, much like remote viewing experiments.

Experiment

With two Kundalini awakened individuals, agree a mutually acceptable time to attempt the experiment and designate one the letter A and the other B.

Test 1: When the time arrives A should try to feel the presence of B, and B the presence of A. Any experiences should be written down as they occur.

Test 2: At 5 minutes past the time, A should try to convey an emotion to B, and write it down.

Test 3: At 10 past the time, B should try and convey an emotion the A, and write it down.

Test 4: At 15 minutes past the time B should try to convey a picture to A, and write it down.

Test 5: At 20 minutes past the time A should try to convey a picture to B, and write it down.

Results: At 30 minutes past the time, the results shall be shared and compared.

Measurement

The experiment can be considered to be a success if there is a correlation between the writings of both participants. It may be a weak or a strong association and this may indicate the level of awakened consciousness in either individual.